Town About To Sue Railroad To Recover Costs Of Fires

By Susan Rand

Town officials are close to filing suit against the B&M Railroad now that witnesses have been found to document the brush fires allegedly started as a B&M freight train passed through Andover on its way to Haverhill.

Town Counsel Alfred L. Daniels told THE TOWNSMAN on Tuesday that he has located two persons who, he thinks, saw the B&M train running near the Mystic Warehouse, on Lowell Junction Road, the scene of the largest of four fires that brought firefighters from 14 communities to Andover last April 12.

Daniels wouldn't identify the individuals until he had a signed statement from both outlining what they saw. He expects to have those documents in hand by the end of this week, the attorney said.

B&M officials have had no comment on the possibility of a suit, maintaining that their train did not start the fires. B&M spokesman Dennis Coffey told THE TOWNSMAN last week that his company had the locomotive in question checked out and found that it had recently been fitted with new brake shoes and the smokestack was clear of a carbon build-up. Both are often implicated in a train-caused brush fire, he explained.

Andover fire officials estimate that between 75 and 100 acres were damaged by the blaze which left land around the Mystic Warehouse scorched. All Andover fire and town personnel at the fire were tested at the Lawrence General Hospital for smoke inhalation and any ill effects from chemicals stored at Mystic. The results of those tests have not yet been received.

Hospital personnel say the testing cost approximately $116 for each of the persons tested. There were 27 firefighters and a number of town officials at the fire, bringing the total hospital cost to at least $3,000, not including emergency room and doctor's bills. The hospital costs and overtime and regular pay for the Andover firefighters at the blaze will probably be included in the suit.

Both the Town Manager and the Board of Selectmen must approve litigation before the town proceeds with a suit, Daniels said. And, for his part, Selectman Chairman William Dalton is ready to file a suit against the railroad.

"B&M just isn't on the right track," said Dalton, laughing at his comment. "It is a one-way thing with them. They don't clean up, they don't care, they don't respond to us."

The decision on a suit will possibly be discussed by the selectmen at their meeting next Monday, May 7, Dalton said.

Planners Continue Stop Work Order At Woburn Street Site

By Sue Aucella Deacon

Following a public hearing last Tuesday night on alleged violations at the Olympic Village subdivision off Woburn and River streets, the Planning Board ruled that no construction may resume at the site — where work was stopped nearly five weeks ago — and tabled the hearing until May 14.

According to physical planner Stephen Colyer of the Community Development and Planning staff, the board is waiting for developer Arthur Kalogianis of T.D.J. Development Corp. to respond to their charge that he has gone beyond the bounds of his 1980 subdivision approval — for the fourth time.

Construction at Olympic Village has been suspended since March 29, when the planners issued a stop-work order to the developer.

The board claims that Kalogianis has excavated a 240- by 90-foot pit in the subdivision's open space, using it as a dump for building debris and, in the process, diverting the course of a stream running through nearby wetlands. The pit is filled with at least ten feet of water, Colyer said.

The Board of Health and Conservation Commission have also cited the developer for encroaching on the cluster subdivision's open space (which will eventually be deeded to the town, under the terms of the planners' subdivision approval) and creating a public health hazard.

The board continued last week's hearing until May 14, Colyer said, because Kalogianis failed to produce information they had directed him to submit by April 15.

That information was to have included a schedule for restoring the open space to its original condition, and a construction schedule for the completion of the entire 109.9-acre, 83-lot subdivision. About half of the development is already completed.

Receives Top ROTC Award

Christopher J. Bedell is congratulated by Gen. John A. Wickham after receiving George C. Marshall Award.

Army ROTC Cadet Christopher J. Bedell of Andover, a senior at Duke University, Durham, N.C., is this year's recipient of the prestigious George C. Marshall Award.

The award is given annually to the outstanding fourth-year cadet in each collegiate ROTC detachment and is the highest award a cadet can receive. It is given in recognition of displayed excellence in military studies and leadership.

Bedell, son of Dr. and Mrs. Stanley F. Bedell, 9 Hemlock Road, will receive a commission in the Army upon graduation.

"I'm honored to represent Duke Army ROTC and I greatly appreciate this opportunity," Bedell said upon receiving congratulations from Army Chief of Staff Gen. John A. Wickham.

Military science professors from 315 colleges nationwide select their outstanding senior cadet to represent his or her school at the annual George C. Marshall ROTC Award Seminar. The program epitomizes the emphasis placed on the Reserve Officer Corps by the Army Chief of Staff, during World War II, who later became Secretary of State (1947-49) and Secretary of Defense (1950-51).

Winners attend the George C. Marshall Seminar on National Security and receive a three-volume Marshall biography and a certificate.

Marshall's sweeping plan for rebuilding Europe during the post-war period led to his being the only military man in history to win the Nobel Peace Prize.

Bedell will attend the Engineer Officer Basic Course after graduation.

To Replace Flags On Graves

The Patriotic Holiday Committee, with the assistance of the local veterans' organizations, will replace the American Flags on the graves of all veterans interred in Andover cemeteries prior to Memorial Day.

Members of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, Post 2128, and the American Legion, Post 8, will meet at the veterans' headquarters in the old East Junior High School on Sunday, May 5, at 11 a.m. to carry out this activity.

Rain date for placing flags will be Sunday, May 19, at 11 a.m.

There are more than 1,200 graves to honor with a new flag.

Haverhill Street Reconstruction Underway

The long-awaited repaving of Haverhill Street has begun. Construction crews began the project yesterday morning and are expected to work on the street for the next two weeks, according to Public Works Director Robert McQuade.

The crews will rip up the old pavement, lay a new sub-base, and finally lay new pavement, the director reports, working from the intersection of Enmore Street to the High Street intersection.

Traffic will be detoured around the area during the construction hours of 7 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., McQuade says; however, Haverhill Street will remain open to through traffic every night.

New water mains installed under the roadway last fall left Haverhill Street, in the opinion of a good many townspeople, the bumpiest road in Andover.

Five Hearings Tonight On Zoning Issues

Five hearings are scheduled for tonight's Zoning Board of Appeals meeting, beginning at 7:30 p.m., in the school committee meeting room, upstairs in the school administration building, off Whittier Street.

Topping the list of requests is Hewlett Packard, who will ask for a special permit to install a satellite dish antenna at the Minuteman Road headquarters. Also to be discussed are James and L.A. Fiorenza's plans to renovate their 30 and 40 Andover St. building to include a second floor and an addition onto the first floor.

Selectmen To Meet With Health Board

The Board of Selectmen will meet with Dr. Douglas Dunbar, chairman of the Board of Health, during their next meeting, scheduled for 7:30 p.m. next Monday, May 6, at town offices on Bartlet Street.

Among the issues the selectmen are expected to discuss with the chairman: protection of Andover's watershed areas. Residences in the Haggetts Pond watershed rely on septic systems, which could potentially harm the groundwater.

On Dean's List

Amy Conroy, a sophomore at Holy Cross College, has been named to the Dean's List for the first semester of the 1984-85 academic year.

Conroy, the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. James Conroy, 82 Holt Road, Andover, is majoring in English.

Founded in 1843, Holy Cross is the oldest Catholic college in New England. It is a coeducational, Jesuit, liberal arts college, with an enrollment of 2,500 students.

TOWN OF ANDOVER NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING TREE REMOVAL

50" American Elm - 107 Bailey Road

BABY TALK

by Jack Resnick

While babies differ a good deal in how much they cry, and how easy it is to soothe them, a few soothing methods seem to work well for most babies. Whenever your baby is not screaming from pain, the first thing to think of is hunger, especially during the first few months. Even when he or she is not ready for an entire meal, a snack might work wonders. Even the youngest baby will often cry for lack of company. Try putting your baby to your shoulder and walk around slowly, cuddling him in that position. Cuddling while rocking in a rocking chair is a very effective method of soothing.

There is wonderful selection of baby furniture at TINY TOTLAND. We have everything from pacifiers to strollers. Over 80 cribs on display. Wall decor and lamps. Kitchen Design

by David A. Clement, Designer
ASSESS YOUR NEEDS

A recent survey asked homeowners, most of whom claimed to be enthusiastic cooks, to itemize the requirements of their "dream kitchen" in order of preference. The results are revealing. Most said that they first wanted high-quality cabinets, then a separate pantry, a dishwasher and, finally, a self-cleaning double oven. All four desires indicate that their primary concern was not with cooking but with cleaning and storage. The survey underscores the importance of really knowing what you want. Only by realistically assessing your requirements will you get the kitchen that is really desired. Design should follow your functional needs.

Whether you're a gourmet cook or a fast order cook the layout of your kitchen plays an important part in meal preparation. If your present kitchen has been a hindrance to you, then let the experts at WINDSOR KITCHENS design and install your "dream kitchen." We work with you step by step to create a kitchen that will be as aesthetically pleasing as it is functional. No matter what style you prefer from traditional to ultra modern we will design it for you. Your new kitchen will be an investment you'll be proud of. Photo Contest Winners Announced

Winners of the "Nation of Readers" contest were announced and prizes awarded by Carl Russo of the Andover TOWNSMAN on Sunday, April 21, at Memorial Hall Library.

Diane Derby, 63 Center St., Andover, won first prize in the color category with a picture of a grandmother reading a bedtime story to her granddaughter. In the opinion of the judges, this picture best illustrated the theme—to portray the significance of reading in American life. John Yurka of Dracut and Lesley Whitley of Andover took second and third places, respectively, in the adult color class.

The self-portrait of Sue O'Neill, 11 Argyle St., Andover, won in the black and white category.

Her 14-year-old daughter, Kimberly, was the winner in the youth class.

Photos were judged by Kelly Wise, Richard Chapell and Carl Russo and prizes were donated by Andover Photo, Andover Gallery and Andover Bookstore.

The three winning photos will now advance to the American Library Association's national contest and winners will be announced during the association's national conference in Chicago July 6-11. Selected photographs will be published in national consumer publications and be used to promote libraries in reading.

All entries in Memorial Hall Library's contest are on display in the main reading room.

To Continue Doctoral Studies

Dennis Richards

Dennis Richards, 129 Haverhill St., Andover, has been granted a full-year sabbatical by Hopkinton Public Schools to continue doctoral studies (Ed.D) in the administration, planning and social policy at Harvard University's Graduate School of Education (HGSE). The program, with its focus on educational practice, prepares graduates to assume responsible administrative positions at various levels in school systems, colleges and universities, government organizations and corporate settings.

Richards, a life-long resident of the Merrimack Valley and graduate of Central Catholic High School and Merrimack College, received his Master of Arts degree from Middlebury College's Bread Loaf School of English. Richards, who coordinates English Language Arts for Hopkinton Junior-Senior High School, is completing an internship as assistant superintendent of schools for staff and program development.

The internship, sponsored through HGSE, is part of a seminar on school improvement taught by Dr. Roland Barth, co-director of the internationally recognized HGSE Principals' Center. According to Richards, the internship has helped him realize that improved schooling for children of all learning styles is greatly dependent on the level of cooperation and support among administrators, teachers and the community. Educational leaders must identify and promote the adoption of policies that will foster this cooperation and support.

Shawsheen Hosts Program

The Department of Community Services will offer its eight-week summer playground program for Tiny Tots (ages three and four) and Preschoolers (ages 4½ to six) at the Shawsheen School this year. The playgrounds, formerly held at Bancroft School and other locations around town, will be based out of the SHED (Shawsheen Extended Day) facilities at the school.

The Tiny Tot and Preschool playgrounds are enrichment and recreational programs which help children to explore the world of creative play through arts and crafts, music and movement, nature and games and storytelling. The programs are offered in two-week session, Monday through Friday, from 9 a.m. to 12 noon. The Preschool playground offers an afternoon component from 12 noon to 4 p.m. Four-year-olds will be allowed on a space available basis into the afternoon program. Extended hours are available for an additional fee from 4 p.m. to 5:30 p.m.

Supervision will be provided by qualified teachers and college students. High school students with past experience in organizing children's activities will assist. The approximate ratio of staff to children is 5:1 in Tiny Tot and 8:1 in Preschool.

All playgrounds will be closed on the Fourth of July. There will be no price adjustment or make-up for the holiday.

A parent orientation meeting will be held Tuesday, June 18, from 7 p.m. to 8:30 p.m. at Shawsheen School. Advance registration is required and continues at the DCS office on Bartlett Street.

To Visit Children's Museum

The Department of Community Services will visit the Boston Children's Museum. The Children's Museum offers a varied recreational and educational experience for children and adults of all ages. Exhibits include WKID-TV, Fort Point Health Center, where kids can be doctors and dentists, and Congress Street Superette, where kids can be supermarket workers. Bus will leave from the rear parking lot of the Town Offices building at 12:15 p.m. and return at approximately 5 p.m. Advance registration is required and is being accepted at the DCS office in the Town Offices building.

Choral Society In Concert

The Andover Choral Society performed the Requiem by Gabriel Faure at their annual concert last Sunday, at Free Christian Church. Gabriel Faure began working on his Requiem in 1877, while choirmaster at the church of the Madeleine in Paris. It is said that the death of his parents played a significant role in its genesis. The concert was a special event for the audience and the 50-member chorus marking the debut of the new ACS Music Director, George Redman. After better than 55 years of conducting the Andover Choral Society, J. Everett Collins retired his position to Mr. Redman and enjoyed the concert for the first time as an observer. Photos clockwise from upper left: George Redman, who began singing under the direction of Mr. Collins while attending Andover East Junior-High, conducts the Choral society; Paul Woodsum, tenor; Carolyn Mattedi, alto, and David Campbell, bass, perform "The Heavens are Calling"; Baritone Harold Rodgers sings his solo number; The Andover Choral Society performing in the Free Church; J. Everett Collins, who turned 91 over the weekend, applauds the performance; George Redman conducts soprano soloist, Jane Kniffen.

State Senator Patricia McGovern has been named the 1985 Honorary Inductee of the Suffolk University chapter of Pi Alpha Alpha, a national honor society for public affairs and administration.

McGovern, who represents Lawrence, Tewksbury, Billerica and part of Andover in the Massachusetts Senate, received the honorary membership at a ceremony April 25 at the university's campus on Beacon Hill in Boston. McGovern holds a bachelor of arts degree in English and a law degree, both from Suffolk University. She has served in the public-affairs and government fields for much of her adult life.

McGovern currently chairs the Senate Committee on Ways and Means, which functions as the Senate's budget panel. The committee is in the process of reviewing proposed fiscal-year 1986 state spending, expected to reach nearly $9 billion.

Scholarship Funds Available

"More state financial aid than ever before is available to help Massachusetts college students," reports State Representative Susan C. Tucker.

State student aid money provides help for close to 44,000 Massachusetts students. One hundred thirty-seven students in Rep. Tucker's district are receiving state scholarships totaling $133,155. The Legislature is now considering a bill that would increase student aid funds by an additional $25 million.

Rept. Tucker encourages students to apply for state scholarships for the coming year. Information is available from high school guidance offices and college financial aid officers. Students and parents can also contact the Massachusetts State Scholarship Office and the new Higher Education Information Center at the Boston Public Library.

Students Get Lesson On Drug Dangers From Governor's Team

By Susan Rand

Gov. Michael S. Dukakis

You start with marijuana but it leads to other, 'bigger,' drugs.

You steal from your family, homes and stores to keep up with your ever increasing habit.

You get into car accidents, maybe get arrested too.

Your family kicks you out of the house and you live on the streets.

And if you're lucky, you end up in jail, not dead in some alley, and you look for something else, anything.

It happened, all of it, in much the same way to four young adults, who told their stories to a full house as Andover High School students, their teachers, school administrators and local politicians listened.

Identified only by their first names, Mike, Gina, Frank and Kenny have joined Governor Michael S. Dukakis's traveling road show to combat drug and alcohol abuse. Dukakis brought his young friends here last Thursday morning for the hour-long assembly.

With only a few words to begin the program, the governor let the former drug addicts, all of whom live at Spectrum House, a Framingham treatment program for addicts, do the talking.

The audience listened quietly as each of the four guests related their stories. Sometimes a gruesome detail elicited a gasp or two, other times there were snickers throughout the crowd at the J. Everett Collins Center for the Performing Arts.

For Frank, 21, memories of his childhood always include drugs. The 21-year-old Gloucester man was brought up by drug addicted parents, who, he said, were always high.

He recalled seeing his father "coming down from heroin" on the living room couch when he was eight years old. He would walk into their bedroom and find his parents with needles sticking in their arms.

"They used to tell me, 'don't worry about it, it's our medication,'" said

Frank. "I thought fine..."

He started using drugs in high school. There was marijuana, acid, mescaline. He was selling drugs for his parents and trying hard to make enough money to keep them from beating him up when he got home at night. He finally broke into an army truck, stole some weapons, got arrested, and found himself in prison.

"I never had anybody telling me that doing drugs is wrong," said Frank, who hasn't seen his mother in seven years. His father, he added, thinks he is too old to get off drugs. He thinks he's addicted for life. "Everyone I know started out smoking pot. Most of my friends, the ones I went to high school with, are dead now or in prison."

Andover High senior Dave Casanave arranged the governor's visit, first writing Dukakis a letter inviting him to the high school. Andover's State Rep. Sue Tucker followed up Casanave's invitation and convinced him to come to town.

Open House

Demonstrations of computer graphics and Renaissance painting techniques will highlight a summer program openhouse at Massachusetts College of Art, 621 Huntington Avenue, Sunday, May 19, from 1 p.m. to 3 p.m.

Staff from the college's microcomputer graphics laboratory will demonstrate imaging techniques using microcomputers, programming, commercial software packages and auxiliary equipment such as an ink-jet printer, video camera and graphics tablets.

David Small will demonstrate the art of misch painting. This technique uses a combination of oil paint and egg tempera to create luminous paintings in the manner of Renaissance masters such as Jan Van Eyck. The Massachusetts College of Art, the nation's oldest public art college, will offer approximately 80 day and evening courses this summer.

Dukakis

Dukakis wanted to know about Andover's SADD chapter, Drake said. And he wanted to find out what plans the group had for the annual prom, on Friday, May 17.

"He is very easy to talk to," Drake told THE TOWNSMAN.

Dukakis gave the Andover students the good-news-about-Massachusetts speech he has so many times told other groups.

"This state, kids, probaby has the most promising future in the country," said the governor, who's brother was killed by a drunk driver. "It's a mecca, thousands of talented kids come here and never leave. It's just plain dumb, stupid, to throw it away on booze and drugs and the kinds of things you kids are doing. If you people, in a state like this, have a need for this kind of stuff, it says something about your future."

He warned them about what they might be doing, if they were doing drugs.

"A good deal of what's going on is illegal, criminal. I just want to say to you, that we're going to get very tough on the law enforcement side of this."

The students heard from Mike, 19, from Plymouth, who started using marijuana at age 13. Mike warned the students that their drug use would keep them from participating in the high school events that would form their memories.

"All the things people reach for in high school, people expect to see those things, when I dropped out of school I didn't have anything. I lost five years in my life, no way I can ever get those years back," said the man who's cocaine habit was upwards of $400 a day.

Mike missed his prom, his high school graduation.

"I started with the attitude that I could smoke a lot and it wouldn't harm me. Pot leads into other drugs," he warned. "The high wasn't good enough for me."

Then there was Gina, from Springfield, who lost her friends and family to a life of stealing and car accidents. Gina was drinking, using LSD, cocaine, heroin, she didn't finish high school because she was "too far gone."

When he was arrested, at age 15, Kenny, from Woburn, decided he'd stop the vandalism and just stick to drugs. But he soon discovered that his habit had increased. Kenny, like his colleagues, chose drugs over his prom. He told of how he paused as he entered the dance hall, then he decided not to go in and "got high instead."

Sitting in jail, with needle marks down his arms, Kenny, 19, realized he had lost control.

"Drugs had control over me, I didn't have control over drugs any more," he said.

Mike and Kenny told the high school students about how their drug addictions changed their personalities. It was three years before his parents found out he was using drugs, explained Mike.

"I was high so much my parents thought that was how I looked," Mike said to laughter from the audience. He quickly quieted the laughter, sternly saying "that's a serious comment. They thought that was normal."

Kenny's mother, too, thought "that's just Kenny" of her son's behavior. "She denied it all," Kenny said. "She didn't want to believe it until after I got in trouble with the law and she found drugs in my room."

Denial is a big part of drug addiction, Dukakis told the audience. He charged them with the responsibility for friends who they know are addicted.

"You think it can't happen to you," said Gina. "It really can."

Special Series Offered On Learning Disabilities

A special three session series, funded by a state education grant will introduce Andover and North Andover parents and educators to the problems of children with learning disabilities.

Sponsored by the Andover-North Andover Chapter of the Massachusetts Association of Children with Learning Disabilities, the program, entitled "Parent-Professional Partnerships," will feature lectures, discussions and small group activities on Tuesday evenings, May 7, May 21 and June 4, from 7 to 10 p.m., at the North Andover Middle School, Main Street.

The $1,170 grant was awarded to the new group which was formed last November by North Andover resident Linda Downer, the group's president. The group meets regularly on Tuesday evenings, at 7:30 p.m., in the Stevens Hall Nursing Home, on Park Street in North Andover.

Children with learning disabilities, explained Downer, are not retarded. Instead, she said, they have different learning styles such as Downer's daughter who has Dyslexia, a type of learning disability.

Downer said that parents need to understand state special education laws, evaluation processes and how individual education plans are formulated. Speaking at the learning disability programs are Pat Blake Blausamer and Beverly Graham, of The Children's Federation, in Boston, and Susan Clark, a learning disability teacher in Duxbury.

To register for the programs, which are free, call or write to Downer, at 340 Foster St., North Andover.

VISITATION "RITES" FOR SPLIT PARENTS

Children of divorce want and need regular contact with each parent. However, parenting doesn't occur in a vacuum; often parents differ on the best ways to raise a child. For divorced parents, it's hard to negotiate and compromise, particularly as lives get more complicated with new marriages and other children. We are running this workshop to explore strategies for developing a cooperative parenting relationship that works in everyone's best interest: parents and their children. We will explore common pitfalls and provide solutions to the common parenting problems divorced parents face.

The seminar will be held on Wednesday, May 9, 1985 at 7:30 p.m. at the offices of the Somers Trust Psychological Associates located at 789 Turnpike Street (Route 114) (The Willows Professional Park) in North Andover, MA. As part of a commitment to community service, there is no charge for the seminar and all are invited to attend.

For more information or to make a reservation, please call 688-8004.

To Discuss Estate Planning

"Looking Ahead," an estate-planning workshop for parents of handicapped children and concerned professionals, will be held Tuesday, May 7, from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. in the McQuade Library Auditorium at Merrimack College, off Route 114 (Turnpike Street) North Andover. There is no charge.

"Looking Ahead" is offered as a public service by Massachusetts Cerebral Palsy of the Merrimack Valley and Legal Services for Multihandicapped Children, a program of the Law Offices of James Sokolove & Affiliates.

The workshop will cover four basic aspects of estate planning: ensuring that the handicapped child will not lose federal or state benefits as a result of inheritance, writing a will, creating a trust and naming a suitable guardian, conservator or trustee for the child.

Alex L. Moschella, the speaker, is a partner of Rollins & Moschella, a Boston-based law firm which provides estate planning services to families of the disabled. Moschella, who served as assistant executive director of the Massachusetts Bar Association, is a former president of the Greater Boston Association for Retarded Citizens. He was the director of the statewide specialized training and advocacy program for developmentally disabled citizens.

"Estate planning is a very important, and an all too often neglected, issue for parents or even grandparents of handicapped children," says Vivian Goldman, coordinator of Legal Services for Multihandicapped Children. "There are many special problems in estate planning for families with handicapped children and it is essential, whether the property or savings are large or small, that parents plan carefully for the welfare of their children. This workshop will help parents start, or improve, their estate planning."

Goldman, the workshop moderator, is a graduate of Western New England College School of Law. She earned a master's degree from Columbia University School of Social Work and has more than 18 years of social work experience in New York City and western Massachusetts.

Massachusetts Cerebral Palsy of the Merrimack Valley is a private, non-for-profit organization which provides medical, social, educational, prevocational and recreational programs for the victims of Cerebral Palsy and other related neurological disorders. Headquartered in Lawrence, Cerebral Palsy of the Merrimack Valley serves individuals and families in 35 communities in northeastern Massachusetts and southeastern New Hampshire.

GCA will transfer more than 200 employees to its Lawrence facility at the former Pacific Printworks building on Merrimack Street.

According to the agreement, the institute is presenting a series of four three-hour long workshops to the employees in groups of 25 to 30 people. The workshops, which have already begun and are well received, will continue through August when the move, hopefully, will be complete. They will cover a historical overview of Lawrence, the Immigrant City, a cultural review of the Hispanics of Lawrence, an awareness program relating to the southeast Asians, Lawrence's newest residents, and studies of ethnic differences at the work site.

The first employees to participate in the program are the supervisors and managers of the employees to be transferred while the final sessions will be held during the summer when personnel moves are actually being carried out.

Among the workshop leaders are Eartha Dengler, director of the Immigrant City Archives in Lawrence, Carol Keirstead, research and development assistant at Lowell University, and the Rev. Daniel O'Neill, director of the pre/appraisal assessment program for the Lawrence Chamber of Commerce. The program is being coordinated by G. Anglers Welcome

The welcome mat is out for anglers at 31 U.S. Army Corps of Engineers flood control reservoirs and the streams which feed them in Massachusetts, Connecticut, New Hampshire and Vermont.

Possession of a state license and adherence to state regulations are the only requirements to use the lakes and streams for fishing. All corps reservoirs are open without charge.

For a listing of the 31 reservoirs, including their locations and the species of fish available at each, contact Sue Douglas at the New England Division.

concert of original and contemporary rock, jazz and fusion music, at 8:15 p.m. on May 15 in the Berklee Performance Center.

A recipient of the Bachelor of Music degree in Music Education from Berklee, Scism has served as director and principal arranger for the 389th Army Stage Band at Fort Monmouth, N.H., and as featured soloist with the New Jersey State Orchestra. He has also performed with a variety of critically hailed showbands at premier venues throughout the East and has earned distinction as a studio musician for Warner Bros. Records.

Directing will be Ronald Wackowski, Andover.

Rehearsals will be held in the Lowell-Andover area. Performances will take place the first three weekends in June at Emerson College Theater, near the Boston Common. The play will be reviewed by Boston-area critics.

Violin Recital At Academy

The music department of Phillips Academy will present Florence Pearson, a member of the music faculty, in a violin recital on Sunday, May 5, at 3 p.m. in Graves Hall on the Andover campus.

The music will include works of Geminiani, Debussy, Bach, Prokofiev and LeClair.

Pearson has presented recitals at the Fogg Museum, Gardner Museum, Jewett Auditorium in Wellesley, New England Conservatory and Addison Gallery. A graduate of Wellesley College, she was a Fellow at Tanglewood and has worked with Dorothy Delay and Hyo Kang of the Juilliard School in New York. She was a featured artist in a recent series "Women in the Arts" presented at Westbrook College, Portland, Maine.

Pearson will be assisted by Frances Lanier, guest violinist, in Jean Marie LeClair's "Sonae en Trio" for two violins with harpsichord. Lanier founded the Preparatory School at the New England Conservatory which she directed for 25 years. She was winner of the Beebe Fellowship on completing her MA degree at New England Conservatory. Lanier has presented many recitals in the Boston area and was a soloist with the Boston Pops. She is on the faculty at the Rivers Music School in Weston.

Carol Elowe, piano, and Carolyn Skelton, harpsichord, will assist Pearson. They are both members of the Phillips' music faculty and have recently been featured in recitals.

Collins In Command Performance

Judy Collins

Freshly blooming May flowers welcome the return of talented and gifted Judy Collins for a command performance at the J. Everett Collins Center for the Performing Arts on Saturday, May 18, at 8 p.m.

Returning by popular demand, Judy will bring her own special style of contemporary pop music to the Merrimack Valley.

Heralded by the critics as "Her best to date," Judy's concert will span the musical spectrum from folk songs of the early and mid-60s to the sophisticated sounds of today.

"Both Sides Now," "Memory" from "Cats," "Send in the Clowns" and "Chelsea Morning" are a few of the songs she will include in her repertory.

Over the course of the 19 LPs she has recorded since 1961, Judy has interpreted songs in folk, rock, country, theatre and other idioms, infusing each with her own style. As she enters her third decade as a recording artist, she has a body of work to her credit of both commercial and artistic importance.

Her recent sold-out performance at Boston's Symphony Hall is illustrative of her continued popularity, a popularity evidenced by her sold-out national concert tour this spring.

Call the Collins Center for reservations and information, or visit the box office to select seats.

Tickets are also available at Just For You, 36 Main St., and the Main Street offices of the Andover Bank in Andover and North Andover.

The presentation is sponsored by the Andover Endowment for the Arts.

Philharmonic Concludes Season

The Merrimack Valley Philharmonic Orchestra will present the last concert of this season on May 12 in the chapel at Phillips Academy, Andover, at 3 p.m.

Carolyn Day Skelton, organist at the academy, will be featured in Handel's Organ Concerto No. 6 in B flat and the U.S. Premier of Herve LeGrand's Concerto for Violin, Piano and Orchestra. Soloist will be Heidi Yenney and Karen Harvey. Skelton will also play the organ for the Camille Saint-Saens Symphony No. 3.

Sally Slade Warner will give a carillon concert at 2 p.m. Elizabeth Schulte and Elizabeth Scott, students at the academy, will be among the musicians performing with the Philharmonic Orchestra.

Musicians from Andover include Betsy Boynton, Nancy Pauls, Dr. Edmond Melucci, Roxann Nickerson, John Wessler, Joanne Young and Jim Goodwin from North Reading.

Featured Soloist In Lowell

Frank Kaplan

Frank Kaplan of Andover will be a featured soloist in the University of Lowell Choral Union production of "The Mikado" on Friday, May 3, at 8 p.m. at Durgin Hall, University of Lowell, Wilder St., Lowell.

Kaplan has been active in the Andover Community Theater and other area theater groups in musical and dramatic roles.

"The Mikado," one of Gilbert and Sullivan's most popular operettas, was first performed in 1885 and contains such memorable musical numbers as "Three Little Maids from School," "Behold the Lord High Executioner" and "Willow, Tit Willow."

Tickets may be purchased at the door.

Vale History Traced On Walls Of South

By Susan Rand

Some South School youngsters translated their new-found knowledge about Ballardvale's ancestors onto a twelve by seven foot mural depicting Ballardvale center circa 1850.

The idea of South art teacher Teresa Consentino, the mural was created by 16 South students along with Consentino and Pittsfield artist James Schantz, whose four days here were funded by a grant from the school system and the Cultural Education Collaborative, a division of the Massachusetts Council on Arts and Humanities.

For three days the young students worked on nothing but their mural. They had special permission from their parents and teachers to miss their classes last Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday. But before the cutting and painting got started there was the background research and sketching of the mural to complete.

Teresa Consentino

"People come from all over into a new development and don't know what was here before them," said Consentino, a Lawrence resident who has been teaching in Andover for five years. "We decided to depict what was in this area. And the kids got a sense of where they belong here."

The students who worked on the mural include fourth graders John Desmond, Becky Kates, Matt Davis, Erinne Sullivan and Jason Price; fifth graders Robert Edge, Dan Mooney, Andy Hsieh, John Townshend, Kathleen Barrett and Scott Nuismer; sixth graders Ami Bakshi, Jennifer Bastian, Shawn Fee, Jennifer Brown and Sean Aeder.

While the youngsters researched buildings and sketched sites around Ballardvale some local residents helped supply background information for the project. Consentino said Ballardvale librarian Ruth Sharpe, members of the town's Historical Society and Andover Street residents Franklin and Bernice Haggerty were a big help with research on the area.

Included on the mural is a Catholic church, circa 1881, as well as Methodist and Congregational churches; a general store, the Marland Mansion, c.1836; the Bradlee Mill and Bradlee School, dated 1889; a fire station, the wooden bridge and a number of private homes dating from the early 1800's through the last quarter of the 17th century. The art teacher said 14 of the buildings are historically significant.

Soon a key naming each of the buildings on the mural will be posted aside the work in the school hallway so visitors can name each of the buildings.

Batteries

When replacing batteries in a device, always replace all the batteries. Mixing old and new batteries or mixing different battery power systems, such as general purpose or heavy duty with alkaline, will end up reducing overall performance.

Always replace batteries with the same size and battery power system specified. For all practical purposes, any reputable U.S. brand battery within each power system (alkaline, heavy duty, general purpose) will give you equal performance.

The school year will end Thursday, June 26, with the teachers let out June 27.

The first school vacation occurs on Wednesday, Nov. 27, when students leave for Thanksgiving, returning Monday, Dec. 2. Christmas vacation runs Monday, Dec. 23, through Thursday, Jan. 2.

February vacation will be Monday, Feb. 17, through Sunday, Feb. 23. April vacation will be Monday, April 21, through Sunday, April 27.

Holidays include Columbus Day, Monday, Oct. 14; Veteran's Day, Monday, Nov. 11; Martin Luther King Day, Wednesday, Jan. 15; Good Friday on March 28; and Memorial Day, Monday, May 26.

Students will be released during the day six times next year, on Tuesday, Oct. 1; Friday, Nov. 1; Wednesday, Dec. 11; Thursday, March 6; Wednesday, April 2 and Monday, May 12. A full day off for students will occur Monday, Feb. 3. Special educational programs for teachers are scheduled on those days.

The '85-'86 calendar was recommended by Andover Education Association president Steve Jankauskas, who was at last week's meeting.

Four calendar proposals were submitted by school administrators including one plan allowing only one week for winter vacation in March with two full weeks off at Christmas; another provided two weeks off at Christmas.

Classes Conclude June 20

Andover public school students gained six more days of summer vacation this year because of the lack of snow days this winter.

The original school calendar, with the last day of school set for Wednesday, June 26, has been changed and students will be dismissed for the summer on Thursday, June 20. The last day for teachers is Friday, June 21. The change of dates was unanimously passed by the School Committee at their last meeting.

Summer Directory

Memorial Hall Library's annual guide to summer programs for children is available, free to patrons, in the main reading room. Included are academic programs, day and overnight camps, sports and nature camps, playground and boating programs and camps for special needs children. Age categories, addresses, dates and fees are provided in this revised directory.

Currently on display in the Children's Room are the creations of Mrs. Winifred Schwartz's fourth-grade class at Sanborn School. Students read mythology books this winter and made dioramas for their book reports.

Student Grouping Plan Remains Controversial With Committee

By Susan Rand

School administrators were at odds with the Andover School Committee, for the second meeting in a row, this time over how students are grouped in the town's elementary schools and kindergarten.

On the hot seat last April 22 was Lois Haslam, assistant superintendent for elementary education, as she explained the theory of small group learning for elementary school students. Historically Andover teachers have been "grouping" children in sections within each class for daily instruction. The discussion last Tuesday centered on Haslam's explanation of an updated educational model of grouping to the School Committee, one which she thinks will bring consistency to the task of grouping in the schools.

Committee members grilled Haslam on whether the grouping of children in structured, or more controlled; semi-structured, and unstructured sections was done according to a child's level of intelligence. Fearful that children would be "labeled" according to their group assignments, some committee members charged that the grouping practices encouraged teachers to have differing expectations for different groups of students.

All of the town's elementary schools and the Shawsheen Early Childhood Center use some form of the model Haslam presented when grouping students, she said.

Underlying the concept of grouping is the notion that all children, at the same grade level, are taught the same material. Haslam explained that although they may receive that information in a number of different ways, depending on the way they learn best, the outcome is expected to be the same.

Traditionally, in a classroom there is always a "pecking order," said the assistant superintendent. But, she stressed, it is the school system's responsibility to "make each child a successful learner," in whatever way that child learns best.

Right now the only thing that School Committee members and administrators agree on is the fact that there needs to be more discussion on the grouping issue. Round two is set for the next School Committee meeting, on Tuesday, May 7, at 7:30 p.m., when Haslam will explain how children are assessed by their teachers for grouping in the next school year. Also on the agenda is an explanation of the expectations for each child by the end of the third and sixth grades.

In separate conversations with four of the five School Committee members THE TOWNSMAN talked with each about their perceptions of how grouping works in the schools and how that compares with what Haslam is proposing.

Committee Chairman Donald W. Robb was out of town on business and not available this week.

Committee member Susan T. Poore charged that the administration was trying to push through a plan to institute a developmental primary unit at the Bancroft School, and that the grouping discussion was part of that overall idea. But, Poore told THE TOWNSMAN, the two are very different in her opinion.

At the previous committee meeting Haslam was rebuked for not asking for committee approval before moving towards implementation of a plan to educate Bancroft School students based not on their ages but on their learning levels in the so-called developmental primary unit. More substantive information about how some of the subject matter would be taught under that new system was also discussed at last week's meeting. That information was well received by the committee, much in contrast to the April 9 session.

"Obviously the administration is laying the groundwork for the developmental primary unit," Poore said. "It became apparent it (the developmental primary unit) was something the administration was going to do and never tell the School Committee. The School Committee has jurisdictional responsibility to approve curriculum modifications and changes. When push comes to shove it's the School Committee that's responsible. There is a bit of a jurisdictional turf that's being battled for here."

Poore said she was unsure of what criteria the schools used for grouping children.

"I really don't know, I still remain somewhat in the dark," she said. "I hear a philosophy—but you can also talk about five other philosophies, it gets down to the practical application of those philosophies."

Committee members David Birnbach, Michael R. Giammusso and Richard E. Neal all said grouping is now based upon intelligence.

"I think that it's (intelligence) probably the primary factor," said Neal. "If that's what we're doing then we ought to say that's what we're doing," he added, instead of suggesting that grouping was done according to learning styles.

Giammusso cited the consistency throughout schools as a matter that needs investigation, saying that it was difficult to determine if school principals in all schools were grouping children in the same manner.

"Lois's philosophy is grouping by learning styles. Parents think it's by intellectual ability," said Giammusso. "The ideal is grouping by learning styles. That's where we are headed."

Library Contractor Chosen; Work Gets Underway May 14

With a new contractor chosen to renovate and expand Memorial Hall Library, Andover officials will waste little time in getting the $5.2 million project underway: Ground-breaking ceremonies have been scheduled for Tuesday, May 14.

The project was awarded this week to Eastern Contractors, Inc., of Newton, the lowest bidder at $4,044,000. Town Manager Kenneth Mahony is scheduled to sign a contract with Eastern Contractors at 10 a.m. today at his office.

Town officials last week opened a total of four bids, ranging from the low bid to a high of $4.46 million.

When the two-year project is completed, Memorial Hall Library will have a new wing that will nearly double the size of the existing library; the present library will be refurbished as well.

The renovations and expansion, approved by 1983 annual town meeting, have been designed by the Boston firm of Shepley, Bulfinch, Richardson and Abbott.

Shawmut Bank of Boston will finance the project, under a rather unusual agreement signed with the town last October.

For the price of $1, the bank has purchased the library and will hold it in trust for the next 15 years; Andover will lease the library from the bank-owned trust during that period, then buy it back for $1.

The advantage of that plan: It will allow the town to pay for the project in installments (to the bank) that will remain stable from year to year. If the work had been funded in the conventional way, with a bond issue, interest payments on that long-term debt would have varied over the years, complicating the town's budget-planning process.

High Plain Road Subdivision Approved; Others Rejected

The Planning Board has given the go-ahead to definitive plans for an eight-lot High Plain Road subdivision, but has voted down preliminary plans for both an eight-lot River Road development and a four-lot Orchard Street development.

The board acted on those three proposals last Tuesday night, according to Stephen Colyer of the Community Development and Planning staff.

With the planners' approval, Coolidge Construction of North Andover will build eight houses on a ten-acre High Plain Road site located a half-mile east of Haggetts Pond. The board discussed plans for the development, called Pendant Court, during a brief public hearing held April 9.

The conventional (not clustered) subdivision will group the houses around a new cul-de-sac. Minimal earth moving will be required at the site, according to the developers' engineer, Stephen Stapinski of Merrimack Engineering Services.

The houses will be served by septic systems, and town water tied in from High Plain Road. The developer has promised to add a new storm drainage system in High Plain Road to augment the existing drainage.

The planners disapproved preliminary plans for another eight-lot West Andover subdivision, Rivercrest Drive, Colyer said this week.

Coolidge Construction had proposed eight lots for a new roadway to be built on a 13-acre site off River Road, near Grey Birch road (along with three additional lots that do not require the board's approval because they have frontage on River Road).

The non-clustered lots would be served by septic systems and water lines looped off River Road.

During an April 9 discussion of plans for Rivercrest Drive, the planners indi-

A Meddlesome Tactic

There is little doubt that the Andover school committee is the group in charge of the town's public education system.

Sometimes, however, they seem to get their responsibilities confused between direction and meddling.

At recent meetings, a decision by the assistant supt. of schools, Lois Haslam, to restructure the grouping of elementary school students has come under fire.

Some school committee members find it suspect. Some parents naturally find that the system may wind up labelling youngsters due to the grouping methods.

It is doubtful that the plan was just something pulled from the air. Rather, based on the professionalism espoused by Ms. Haslam, it is to be anticipated that considerable thought went into the matter before its presentation to the superintendent and school committee.

There is, of course, the possibility of a communications gap which ruffled a few feathers, and understandably so. School administrators often get absorbed in the examination of education needs or advancement to the point where they become oblivious to the need to communicate their thoughts and proposals to such people as school committee members.

It has happened before, not only in Andover, but in other communities as well.

The proposal calls for grouping youngsters according to learning style.

There should be little parental fear about labelling of youngsters due to a new form of grouping.

Rather, there should be appreciation for providing a method for the youngsters to obtain the best learning experience available to them.

There has been constant complaint that Andover's school system is overloaded with administrators, to which one could respond, as long as we have them, let them administrate.

The plan proposed does not, on the surface, appear to endanger, but rather enhance Andover's educational opportunities for its youngsters.

Having overcome the feisty problem of engendering a communications gap, it would appear the time has come for the school committee to give its endorsement to a professional plan, get on with the program and avoid the danger of becoming meddlesome.

Development of educational programs should be left to the professionals.

The Public Forum

To The Editor Of The TOWNSMAN:

Congratulations to Andover's Finance Committee for its best ever Report to Andover citizens for 1985 Town Meeting. Also, delivering it 14 days before meeting time is another plus.

Now, may I suggest a needed and now available improvement for conducting town meeting.

Some articles in the town warrant, when read on the floor by the sponsor (usually articles sponsored by town bodies), are different substantially from the wording in the article as printed. This is confusing. This can be corrected as follows:

It is likely that the high school is equipped with word processors and means for projecting the words upon the large screen which is part of the equipment of Collins Center. Hence, it is suggested that, as the final wording is read for an article, it can be simultaneously projected upon the large screen so that it can be seen and followed by all members of town meeting.

A color and light intensity can be used so that the words can be read with the auditorium lights at normal brightness. The operator of the word processor might be one or more of the high school students that have become highly proficient in this area of computer application.

This same overdue improvement can be used with all articles, together with proposed amendments during discussion of articles.

In any event, it is evident that this improvement, now that it is practical, would be a useful appurtenance for keeping town meeting aware of what it is being asked to consider.

Down The Years With The Townsman

75 Years Ago — May 1910

The biggest business change ever recorded in Andover is covered in the announcement that the Tyer Rubber company have purchased from M.T. Stevens and Sons company, the land on Railroad street long known as the Niotus field. The tract of land covers nearly five acres and is admirably adapted for carrying out the plans which the Tyer company have under way for constructing an entirely new factory. The first building will be erected this year and will be one of a group designed by Engineer Charles T. Main and planned to make within the next year or two the best equipped rubber factory in the world.

A series of small thefts was made last night by some unknown mauraunders. The thieves entered the office of Cross Coal company near Railroad street, and took about three dollars in cash, part of which belonged to Miss Maria Fairweather, who is employed there. Muise's shop on Park street was also broken into, but nothing was taken.

On Monday evening a rehearsal was held by those who are to take part in the Japanese fete to be given shortly by the South Church Courteous Circle, an important feature of which is to be a Japanese wedding.

50 Years Ago — May 1935

A decision to keep the North school open at least until the end of the present school year was made at the meeting of the school board last Tuesday evening, after the committee had heard a group of North district residents present their side of the case at the schoolhouse. The residents were very much opposed to the closing of the school and the subsequent transportation of their pupils to other schools.

"If the street railway won't change the fare, then we'll change the street railway," seems to be the philosophy of local residents who have been signing a petition for a special town meeting which was started in circulation this week. The fifth proposed article in the warrant would have the town grant a franchise for another bus company to run a five-cent fare trip between Shawsheen and Andover square, and also on Lowell street.

Andover's E.R.A. allotment for this month is $7500, or $550 higher than last month, Dr. J.J. Daly, local administrator, was informed this week. E.R.A. work is now being done on the following projects: excavating on Salem street, painting school buildings, Ballardvale playstead improvements, gravelling Bancroft road, excavating Gould road, pest control, traffic survey, literary work, clerical work and sewing.

25 Years Ago — May 1960

The selectmen haven't taken any action on the Trombly Motor Coach Co. application for permission to operate on the town's streets. The firm is seeking rights to operate, so that an express bus link to Park Square, Boston, can be approved. However, the Board seemed to have its mind made up that Central st., or Essex st. and Lupine rd., would be placed off limits if eventual permission is given.

The town will lower the water level in Haggetts pond by two to two and one-half feet over the next month, in a program to rid the pond of algae producing conditions. Water Supt. Donald Bassett described the effort as being ordinary pond maintenance.

A 90-day option has been obtained on ten acres of land between Osgood st. and Route 93, tight against the Dascomb rd. interchange, for a 20-unit motel and restaurant. The land was placed under agreement by Arthur Collins of the Robert Stone Co., with the owner, Robert D. Mayo of Dascomb rd. The area is Zone C residential — one-acre lots — and will require re-zoning.

10 Years Ago — May 1975

Hewlett-Packard is putting an itchy finger on the "trigger" which will initiate construction of the trunk sewer line to the West Andover industrial plant. The TOWNSMAN has learned their plans for the proposed new plant for the medical electronics firm have been before Andover officials for review and examination this past week. The so-called trigger is the actual obtaining of the building permit, at which time the town will proceed with obtaining contracts for the sewer line construction.

New Finance Committee Chairman Charles Wesson would appear to be off to an excellent start in his term as head of the town's financial review unit. He intends to open lines of communication between his group and town boards, particularly, we assume, with the selectmen. In the past few years last minute decisions by the membership of both boards has led to disagreement on town meeting floor, thus leading to some confusion among the voters.

Some good financial news arrived at town hall this week with the cherry sheets showing Andover with a net gain of $288,681 over the 1975 fiscal year capitation. The tax rate dropped a dollar last year, to $53, and that figure seems assured for another year, with either a decrease, status quo, or increase of a dollar still to be determined.

Added School Administrator Posts Gets Limited Support

School officials are looking for administrative changes at Andover High, one of which was approved by the School Committee while the another has limited support on the board.

Assistant Superintendent for secondary education Leslie Loomis will have a second shot at gaining approval of his plan to appoint two teachers to serve as administrative assistants to the high school's two assistant principals. Each would, in addition to teaching duties, work less than half time in the administrative job, which Loomis described as 4 positions.

The committee didn't vote on the plan at their Tuesday, April 23, meeting, and when discussion of the plan was more negative than positive, Loomis was advised by Superintendent Kenneth R. Seifert to withdraw the plan. Loomis told THE TOWNSMAN he will bring the same plan before the committee again at their next meeting on Tuesday, May 7.

Loomis' plan calls for the administrative assistants to free the assistant principals of some of their more routine work. One of the assistant principals would then be named director of student activities and work with the student extracurricular organizations, something Loomis stressed would be a boost in the arm for school spirit at the high school.

While committee member David Birnbach heralded Loomis' plan as needed at the high school, his colleagues, Richard E. Neal and Susan T. Poore, were critical of the student activities idea. Neal saw the plan as poorly timed, something which should have been submitted during the committee's budget review, he told Loomis.

"I'm not talking about the worth of this," Neal said, "this should have come at budget time. It's probably $19,000 we didn't budget for."

And Poore said the position may duplicate activities scheduled by the Department of Community Services, adding that she would rather lower the student-to-teacher ratio at the school.

"You hired me to develop positive activities at Andover High School," Loomis told the board. "What I'm trying to do is deliver."

Committeeman Michael Giammusso later agreed with Birnbach that the high school needed an activities director. Chairman Donald W. Robb did not express his opinion on the matter, saying the discussion would be tabled until the next meeting.

Loomis told THE TOWNSMAN this week that the shift in administrators, would not increase the school budget. Seifert and school Business Manager Francis L. Paul were working on shifting funds, he said. He feels strongly about the proposal, Loomis said, telling committee members that he was hired too close to budget time to propose this plan then.

"There is not another action we could take that would provide more direct and important benefits to the students of Andover High then adding this staffing," Loomis said. "They need all the experiences we can give them to enhance self esteem."

The administrative change approved by the committee will see one Andover High guidance counselor appointed to formally head up that department. The position will include a stipend of under $1,000 for the supervisor, the committee was told. That job has been internally posted this week, Loomis told THE TOWNSMAN.

Their approval of the guidance supervisor's position was temporary and would be reviewed next year, the committee told Loomis after they approved the post.

And next year's guidance staff at the two junior high schools will see a slight change as the one full-time position added by the committee earlier this year will be assigned to the West Junior High. At present each school has one guidance counselor and another counselor shuttles between the two schools, working half-time at each. That job will not be split next year and the position will be

Jenkins Estate Work Resumes

By Sue Aucella Deacon

Winter wraps have come off the Jenkins Estates construction site, where work may resume with the Planning Board's permission.

The board last Tuesday night voted to allow the Jenkins Estates developer to begin installing a water line to serve the 23-acre subdivision, where work was ordered stopped for the winter as of last Dec. 1.

The developer may not begin building houses, but may begin replacing 2,300 feet of water mains on Gray Road as part of the Jenkins Estates project, according to physical planner Stephen Colyer of the Community Development and Planning staff.

A new water line will run from Jenkins Estates to the neighboring Olympia Way development, crossing a wetlands area, to serve Jenkins Estates.

The Jenkins Estates developer is Abbot Corp., a subsidiary of the Lawrence Savings Bank, in partnership with Arthur "Gus" Gauthier of Andover.

Plans for the 13-lot cluster subdivision, approved by the planning board last June, call for two cul-de-sacs off a new roadway exiting onto Jenkins Road, near the North Andover line. Those plans were drawn by Cammett and Kutensky Engineering of Amesbury.

Colyer has called the development "a sensitive site" because it abuts the Hammond Reservation, a large wetlands area controlled by the Andover Village Improvement Society (A.V.I.S.).

The planners ordered work stopped at the subdivision last November, when they found that Abbot Corp. had violated the terms of the subdivision approval by excavating house lots ahead of schedule.

Gauthier and Thomas MacLaughlan, Jr., vice president of the mortgage office at Lawrence Savings Bank, told the board they were unaware of any restrictions on the project when they bought Jenkins Estates from its original developer, Rosnoe Construction Co. of Burlington.

Abbot Corp. complied with the planning board's instructions to "button up" the construction site for the winter by installing a binder surface on the subdivision roadway and stabilizing five excavated lots with mulch to prevent soil erosion.

Last November the board voted to suspend all work on the site until July 1 of this year, because the Conservation Commission believed it would not be safe to install water lines across the wetlands before July.

However, the planners indicated that they would authorize an earlier start-up date if the conservation commission found it appropriate.

Netmen Shut Out

The Andover High boys tennis team's winning streak came to a halt Monday as they were handed their first loss of the season by Chelmsford, 5-0. The win for Chelmsford puts them in first place in the MVC with eight straight wins to their credit. Andover took over second place with a 7-1 record. Mike Hardock does battle in his singles match but went down to defeat, 7-5, 6-4; senior Chris Casdia tries to keep his balance as he returns a hard-to-reach shot. Chris and his partner, Scott Powers, were defeated in doubles 4-6, 6-3, 6-4; sophomore co-capt. Eric Frank covers his head in disbelief on letting a shot get by him. Frank's results were 6-4, 4-6, 6-4; sophomore Matt Young makes a strong effort to keep the ball in play. His results were 6-0, 6-2.

Warriors In Title Contention

By Rick Harrison

The Andover High varsity baseball team remained in the thick of the Merrimack Valley Conference Large School Division title fight this past week, staying just one game out of first place despite winning just one of three games.

The week opened with a 4-1 loss to co-frontrunner Lowell, and continued with a 7-5 triumph over Chelmsford and a 7-5 loss to suddenly-hot Wilmington.

The Golden Warriors emerged from the action with a 3-3 league record and 3-4 overall mark, and were scheduled to continue their run through the six-team Small School Division this week.

Andover battled Tewksbury (6-4) yesterday at Tewksbury, and faces undefeated Small School leader Dracut (6-0) tomorrow afternoon.

Lowell, 4-1

All five runs in this contest were unearned, and one bad inning (two errors) cost the Warriors four runs and the game.

Junior righthander John Klopacz (1-1) was the hard-luck loser, scattering six hits effectively and striking out five.

He was uncharacteristically wild, however, issuing five walks.

For Lowell (4-2 league, 4-4 overall), hard-throwing sophomore righthander Bill Janes (2-0) fashioned a superb one-hitter. Janes walked only two and struck out three.

Janes lost the no-hitter and the shutout in the bottom of the third, Andover inching ahead 1-0 when senior first-baseman Dave Schwedler bounced a single up the middle and raced all the way around when junior Rob DiTroia's two-out flyball was dropped.

Klopacz kept Lowell at bay until the top of the fifth, when an infield error enabled leadoff batter Mark Cohen to reach first and start the rally.

John Durgin bunted Cohen to second base, sophomore Rick Walker singled, and Jeff Paglucia walked to load the bases with two down.

Janes also walked, forcing home the tying run, and then Kevin Broderick flared an opposite-field two-run double down the leftfield line to plate Walker and Paglucia.

Janes raced across with the final run when Chris Roy's twisting grounder hit the first base bag and handcuffed the AHS infielder.

Shane Smith eventually gunned down Roy as he tried to steal, second baseman Leo Gravell slapping on the tag to end the fateful inning.

Andover failed to mount any serious threats the rest of the way.

Once again Gravell played a strong defensive game, initiating the club's fourth doubleplay in four games.

Walker and Scott Boyle paced LHS with two hits each.

Andover, 7-5

The Golden Warriors bounced back to beat Chelmsford (2-4), using a big seven-run first inning to do all their offensive damage.

Junior righthander Rob Carpentier squared his record at 1-1, although the Lions roughed him up for eight hits and five earned runs. Carpentier whiffed seven batters and helped himself by walking only one.

Righthander Bill Ross (2-1) failed to finish the first inning for Chelmsford, surrendering five hits, walking three and allowing all seven runs.

Lefthander Brian Egan came through with an outstanding relief performance in his first varsity appearance, blanking Andover for the final 5-1/3 frames. Egan permitted seven hits, walked three and fanned eight in his stint.

Carpentier helped himself with a two-run single past a drawn-in Chelmsford infield in the explosive first, while other Andover safeties (all singles) were spanked by junior third-baseman Earl Abdoo, junior shortstop John

Boys Win Net Tourney

Andover Old Colony junior boys' team scored a convincing victory in the playoff finals recently. Old Colony lost but one match, posting an 8-1 win over Bass River Tennis Club of Beverly. Rod Robito, playing 18 singles, led the attack with a 10-2 win. San D'Urso staged a 10-5 comeback in 16 singles and Jeff Hechemy pulled off a 10-6 upset in 14 singles. Ken Leng suffered the only loss in a tough 5-10 match in 12 singles.

Old Colony won all four doubles matches with Robito and Bill Bruno at 18 doubles, Eric Frank and Mike Hardock at 16s, Brian my at 14s and Jeff garfeld at 12s. Regan and Jeff Heche- D'Urso and Chris He-

Andover Little League

By Jim Arnold

National Majors

Bill Batchelder of the Mets and Matt Harris of the Cardinals turned in sterling all-around performances, leading their squads to Opening-Day wins in the National Major League division of the Andover Little League.

Both went 4-for-4 at the plate with each rapping a homer and accounting for five RBIs. They also recorded stellar pitching stints.

Mets 7 - Pirates 4

The defending league Pirates parlayed timely hitting and Met-fielding miscues into an early 4-0 advantage.

Doubles by Jeff Hurley, P.J. Johnson and Mike Murnane, combined with hesitant Met gloves, led to scores. Meanwhile, Bryan Boucher was silencing Met bats with the aid of an air-tight defense.

The Met resurgence began in the third when Jimmy Landry induced a base on balls. Batchelder then lunched a moonshot for the inaugural league homer of the season.

With the lead cut in half, the Mets ceased their sieve imitation. Batchelder threw peas thereafter on his way to a nine-strikeout mound victory.

The winning rally was mounted in the sixth. Todd Murray opened things by lining a base hit, followed by a Ryan-Evans walk. The two engineered a double steal, then raced home on a Brian-Landry bingo. Not to be outdone by his younger brother, Jim Landry slapped his second hit of the game. Batchelder concluded his perfect day by knocking home both runners, then retiring the Pirates in order in the final frame.

Cardinals 11 - Braves 2

The Cardinals rattled 12 hits, including six for extra bases, on their way to an 11-2 pummeling of the Braves.

Don Fraser drew a base on balls, Dave Corbett jettisoned a double and 11-year-old Matt Harris hammered a homer on his first Andover Little League at bat in the first inning.

Four second inning runs put the Cards on easy street. The highlights included Harris picking up a later double and two singles for five RBIs, catcher Steve Caltagirone going 3-for-4 and Corbett ripping another double. Fraser scored four times in his league debut. Adam Brown earned the mound victory. He hurled three innings, allowing just one hit, while striking out four. Harris mopped up effectively, fanning four. Alex Sumberg registered a pair of fielding gems.

Despite the score, the Braves played well in the field and received a promising pitching effort from Mike Henry.

American Majors

Indians 22 - White Sox 8

The White Sox built up an eight-run led with five in the first and three in the second. From that point the Indian bats came alive to earn the victory 22-8.

John McEllo had two hits for the White Sox. Brad Cronin and Billy Bonness had single safeties. The Indians were led by Brian Smith's two home runs. Mike Daley and Mark Hopkinson each had three hits. Chris Pothier and Mike Zetlin had two hits while Ben Howard had a single safety.

Mike DiStefano played well defensive for the White Sox as did Tom Torrisi for the Indians. Indian pitchers Ben Howard, Mike Daley and Brian Smith combined for 11 strike outs. Smith struck out eight in his three innings.

Red Sox 22 - Yankees 0

Sean Ryan was razor sharp on the mound for the Red Sox. He had a no-hitter going with two out in the last inning when Craig Dernanian reached on an infield hit. Ryan struck out the next hitter, giving him a 10 strike-out, 1 hitter for the day.

Adam Ferry had three hits, Chris Lembo a bases loaded double and Bob Conchiglia was on base five times for the Red Sox while Josh Neiken and Dave Livingston were outstanding in the field.

Kevin Murphy, Jeff Foley and Jeff Scharke played well for the Yankees.

Twins 15 - Orioles 9

The Twins, hosting the Orioles, jumped to an early lead with strong hitting. Twins starting pitcher Brendan Sharkey pitched three strong innings, allowing no hits and striking out seven. Peter Arthur relieved starter Shawn Garrity and threw two good innings for the Orioles. The Twins scored seven runs in the fifth.

Howe Team Champs

The Howe team captured the Andover Department of Community Services 1984-85 Junior Basketball League Championship by defeating Nautilus in a best of three series.

Coached by Alex Palmer, Howe finished their regular season with a 14-1 record.

Their leading scorers were Ted Palmeri and Eggert and Phil Man-Tom Ryser. Other key players were Allan na.

Legion Tryouts Scheduled

Registrations and tryouts for the 1985 edition of the Andover Post and American Legion baseball team will be held at Phillips Academy's varsity diamond on Saturday, May 18, at 5:30 p.m.; Sunday, May 19, at 10 a.m.; Saturday, May 25, at 5:30 p.m.

The season will run from June 9 through July 27, but will be suspended July 1-7.

The team will compete in the Zone 8 District which is comprised of Zone 8 teams, Beverly, Lynn, Peabody, Salem, Ma., Saugus, and Zone 8 A teams, Andover, Haverhill, Lawrence, Methuen, North Andover, in inter-zone play.

The zone-play champions will compete in the state district playoffs at the end of the season.

All 18 team positions are open and, hopefully, will be filled with Andover residents between the ages of 16 through 18 (must not attain 19th birthday prior to August 1).

The team is normally comprised of six 16 year olds and the remaining roster by the 17 to 18-year-old group.

It is not uncommon, however, for some talented 16-year-old member to win first string position on the team.

This year the 16-year-old Andover residents have three options open to them:

1. Play for and practice only for the legion team.

2. Play for and practice only for one of the two Andover entries in the 13-16 year-old Pony League.

3. Elect to be registered on both the legion roster and on a Pony League team. This group would play and practice almost exclusively with the Pony League team, but would be available on an emergency basis for legion play.

Should an insufficient number of 16-year-old Andover residents register for the legion team and/or for the dual team, the Andover Legion has and will exercise its option to recruit players of all age groups from the Greater Lawrence Vocational School, whether they are Andover residents or not.

Since the number of legion players in each age group must be maintained and controlled, a strong preference must, and will, be given to next year's 17-year-old candidates on the following basis: candidates who played only legion ball as 16 year olds; candidates who agreed to be listed (not necessarily chosen) on both the legion team and Pony League team and who fulfilled their commitments; any 17-year-old candidate new to the Andover legion recruiting area; all other 17-year-old candidates.

All 16-year-old candidates planning to register and/or tryout as legion-only players or for dual team participation are required to notify Al Pelletier, manager, by May 6 so that the decision to recruit Greater Lawrence Vocational school candidates can be finalized prior to tryout dates.

High School Junior Wins "Triple Crown"

Paul McAdam, a junior at Andover High School, won three national titles last week at the National Badminton Championships in Flint, Mich. After winning five silver medals at the nationals in the last two years, he was determined to bring home the gold. Seeded #1 in all 15 and under events, Paul succeeded in winning the singles, boys doubles and mixed doubles.

He worked his way through the singles draw without shifting into second gear, but was caught napping in the first game of the singles final. He lost the first game 12-15, but won the next two games 15-4, 15-2. In the mixed doubles final, he teamed with Karen Hales from California and won comfortably in two straight games. Karen's father is one of the all-time great American badminton players, having represented the U.S. all over the world. Paul team with John Boone from the Manhattan Beach badminton club for the boys doubles and played a tough three-setter, beating another east/west coast combination.

Badminton players from all over the country travelled to Michigan for the tournament. The presentation banquet was a big success, but Paul's winning streak ran out and he only picked up second place in the dance contest.

Winning the "triple crown" wraps up a most successful badminton year for Paul. This year he has competed in major tournaments in Canada, Chicago, Philadelphia, New York, Connecticut and Washington, as well as all local tournaments. As a warm-up to the nationals, Paul competed in the Eric Spencer tournament in Connecticut and won the 15-age group events. He tried his luck in the 18 and under singles and beat the #1 and 2 seeds from Long Island. To help defray some of the expenses, Paul is sponsored by a major sports company for all his equipment, which includes racquets, shuttlecocks and all his sportswear.

Paul travelled to Michigan with his coach, Barbara McKinley, and a group of juniors from Wellesley, where he trains at least four times a week. Barbara, who is ranked #1 in ladies doubles in the U.S. has spent many hours coaching and working on Paul's badminton fitness. He has also trained with Dick McKinley and Guy Rittmann who are the number two doubles team in the U.S.

However, hard work and coaching are not the only prerequisites to success. A coach from badminton camp once remarked that Paul has an aspect to his game that cannot be coached. He commented, "Paul just hates the shuttlecock to land on his side of the court." Next year will be his first year in the U18 age group. An interesting footnote is that indoor badminton is the number two participant sport in the world.

Migraine

A migraine headache usually starts on one side of the head, and, as a rule, remains one-sided.

The most prevalent type of migraine is a common migraine. Common migraine does not have an obvious dramatic period before the headache starts. However, many people do have a vague, uneasy or irritable feeling.

Classic migraine is characterized by a ten to 30-minute warning period, which signals the oncoming headache. The victim may see flashing lights, zig zagging lines or areas of total darkness. There may be tingling of the lips, face or hands; weakness of an arm or leg; loss of appetite, slight speech abnormality, confusion, restlessness, watery eyes and sweating.

The goal of migraine treatment is prevention.

Avoid the factors that prompt migraine. Make an effort to avoid stressful situations. If headaches occurs during the weekend, it may be related to late hours, overindulgence or sleeping late. Eating regularly and avoiding certain foods, such as ripened cheese and caffeine-containing drinks, all aid in prevention.

Completes Season At Villanova

Ray Orner, a graduate of Andover High School, recently completed his second season as a right wing on the Villanova University men's ice hockey team. He played in five games this season to help the Wildcats to a 7-18-1 overall record.

Orner earned varsity letters in ice hockey and participated in soccer and track while at Andover.

The son of Robert and Anne Orner of Fairfield, CT, Orner is an engineering major.

On The Soccer Fields

By She Livermore

The A.S.A.'s 1985 Spring Program is in full swing and approximately 1,200 Andover youth are seen chasing a soccer ball on Saturday or Sunday afternoon on fields in and out of town. Brief results of all the games played last weekend appear below.

Essex County Program

Under 16 Division

Andover Sting 5 - Boxford F.C. 2

Some excellent passing by Andover resulted in a decisive 5-2 victory over a strong Boxford team. Tom Cioffi scored two quick goals on passes by Bob Hughes and Jeff Leonard and Rich Atkinson made it 4-0 with Leonard earning both assists. Billy Ernesto-Martin completed Andover's scoring early in the second half, but Boxford denied the shutout when they kicked in two towards the end of the game. BOW: Goalkeeper Robert Stoltz, Tony Cioffi and Mick Schallop.

Andover Attackers 0 North Andover Lightning 0

The Attackers controlled much of the game, but were not able to capitalize on their scoring opportunities. Andover's defense denied any good shots on their net and the game ended in a hard-fought 0-0 tie. BOW: Windy Carothers, Dee Doran, Sharon Petzold and Michaela Corkry.

Andover Avengers 0 Georgetown Numero Unos 2

Georgetown scored two goals in the first half to take the lead. The Avengers fought back in the second half and made some good attempts to deny the shutout, however, the Georgetown defense blocked all shots to win the victory. BOW: Sandra Liaw and Tan-ya Kachen.

Under 14 Division Andover Raiders 5 - Boxford Bullets 2

Matt Pothier put the raiders in the lead, unassisted, and Chris Eggert made it 2-0 when he scored on a pass from John Mattola. Boxford narrowed the edge when they tallied. Midway through the second half, George Willard upped the score and Pothier added another (assist Eggert) to make it 4-1. Mark Angelos closed out the scoring on an indirect kick (assist Dave Miles and Pothier) and Boxford came back with one more in the closing moments of play, to give the Raiders a 5-2 victory. BOW: Steve Buscema, Josh Fluhr and Alex Egmont.

Andover Cobras 2 - Framingham Aces 0

The Cobras took the lead in the first half. Kathy Doran booted a corner kick over to Erin Lynch who made a quick pass to Andrea Duffy for the score. Jodi Sanders set up the Cobras final goal when she passed the ball to Suzanne Gianelly at midfield; Gianelly crossed it to Brenna Cronin who dribbled it forward and then made a perfect shot on net. BOW: Susan Goldstein, Bridget Murphy and Michelle Vetrano.

Andover Strikers 6 - Lynn Breakers 0 Andover Strikers 1 - Beverly Breakers 1

The Strikers dominated the play, scoring four goals in the first half and adding two more in the second to win a decisive 6-0 victory over a Lynn team on their home field. Scoring were Joan Asgeirsson, Heather Pomeroy, Shay Cassily (2), Tricia Doyle and Nancy Abramson; assisting were Cassily, Asgeirsson (2), Mina Sheel, Lee Dziadosz and Kelley Hajj. BOW: Pauline Koh, Cheryl Kluck, Dainia Gammon and keeper Dziadosz.

In a makeup game with Beverly, the Strikers found the competition much tougher. The first half was scoreless, but midway through the second, Sheel kicked the ball in over the keeper's outstretched hands to give Andover the lead; Asgeirsson assisted. Beverly denied the shutout and the game ended in a hard-fought tie. BOW: Allison Foster, Michelle Meli and Nancy Abramson.

Under 12 Division Andover Lightning 3 - Salem Hot Shots 1

The first half was scoreless. Brian Novelline put the Lightning ahead early in the second half on a fine pass by Brad Cronin. Novelline subsequently kicked in two more to earn a hat trick and give Andover a 3-0 lead; Jamie Damon and Cronin assisted. Salem scored to deny the shutout and give Andover a 3-1 victory. BOW: Sanjiv Sheel, Ryan Cassily and Peter Dennett.

Andover Cyclones 0 - North Andover Crusaders 1 Andover Cyclones 2 - Marblehead Hot Shots 0

The first half was scoreless when the Cyclones played the Crusaders, however, after numerous attempts to score were blocked by goalkeeper Maura Everett, the Crusaders did succeed in kicking one shot in over her outstretched hands to win the hard-fought 1-0 victory. BOW: Jennifer Butt and keeper Everett.

The Cyclones dominated much of the game against Marblehead, at home, taking the lead in the first half when Karen Ragnese found the range on passes by Bridget Guerrero and Amy Habeeb. Leigh Ann Catanzaro kicked in a long shot, unassisted, in the second half and Andover won 2-0. BOW: Lisa Allen and Laura Koerckel.

Warriors Have Rough Week

By Dan Grams

After opening the week with an impressive 14-4 win over Haverhill, the Andover High School junior varsity baseball team experienced their first losses of the season to Lowell and Billerica.

They appeared to use of all their clutch hits against Haverhill, collecting 16 safeties, as the Golden Warriors could only manage 10 hits in the two games in which they were soundly defeated.

Andover 14 - Haverhill 4

The Golden Warriors received a stellar three-hit pitching performance from Mike Klinger to go along with an awesome 16-hit barrage as Andover coasted to a 14-4 victory over the Haverhill Hillies.

The sophomore southpaw Klinger was in total command from the start, not allowing a ball hit out of the infield until the fourth inning. He ended with a season-high 14 strike outs with six walks.

Andover, already on top 2-0, scored what proved to be the winning run in the top of the second. Back-to-back singles by Bob Pothier and Gerry Nassif, along with a walk to Jeff McNeil loaded the bases. Infield outs by Mile Powers and Mark Tucker drove in two runs while Klinger helped his own cause with what proved to be the game winner with a crisp RBI single to center.

Andover scored in every inning but the fifth, lighting up the scoreboard to the tune of 14 runs or 16 Golden Warrior hits.

Nassif led at the plate with 3 hits, Tucker, (four RBIs), Klinger, Pothier, Powers and Jeff Kittleson all had two safeties while Peter Quintal, Chris Sappupo, Cam Deery and Jeff McNeil rounded out the Golden Warrior attack with single safeties.

Lowell 7 - Andover 2

The old adage "good defense and pitching will win ball games" proved to be the difference for Lowell as they defeated Andover 7-2. Lowell's pitcher limited Andover to five hits while the Red Raider defense robbed Andover of potential hits again and again.

Chris Sappupo and Cam Deery lashed hard singles to center. Gerry Nassif then delivered a clutch two-out single to chase home Sappupo, giving Andover a quick 1-0 lead in the second.

The Red Raiders exploded for five runs over the next two stanzas and a single tallie in the sixth.

Andover had some chances in the fourth, fifth and seventh, but the Lowell defense rose to the occasion and shut the Golden Warrior offense down. Sappupo, Deery and Quintal were all robbed of potential extra base hits by Lowell fielders.

Andover ace Mark Hashem was the tough-luck loser, allowing 10 hits. He struck out six and walked four.

Laboratory Department Accredited

The laboratory department at Bon Secours Hospital recently received a two-year accreditation by the College of American Pathologists (CAP) as a provider of more than 400 various lab services and tests including phlebotomy, blood bank, hematology, chemistry, histology, microbiology and nuclear medicine. According to Robert J. Cross, M.D., director of the laboratory and the hospital's chief of pathology, "CAP certification is considered the goal-standard for excellence in laboratory medicine. Over 80 lab personnel have contributed to the achievement of the standards of excellence which culminated in this certification."

The accreditation allows the hospital to continue offering its extensive services to physicians who utilize such procedures as a basis for clinical diagnosis and treatment of their patients. The process of accreditation includes a day-long, on-site survey of the laboratory by representatives from CAP's Commission on Laboratory Accreditation, including a board certified pathologist and several supervisory technologists. The hospital has participated in this accreditation program for more than 22 years.

The laboratory department also conducts continuous in-depth monitoring by its own personnel in order to maintain its high level quality services.

Pickups Into Third Week

In the third week of pickups by a new contractor, residents are getting back into the swing of curbside paper recycling. A few calls to Andover Recycling volunteers indicate that some people who were happily making regular trips to the downtown dropoff center have been unaware that paper pickups resumed April 1 and were surprised to find the former site under construction.

When a new five-day trash route has been worked out, recycling routes will change with them. Paper will still be picked up every other week. The change is being made to create more manageable work days. The Tuesday and Wednesday recycling pickups have been known to take up to 12 hours each. In winter, with shorter daylight hours, late afternoon pickups have been especially difficult.

Every householder will receive a mailing with details of the route change before it happens. Local newspapers will carry articles with the necessary information.

Women And Work To Be Topic

Sharlene Hess Biber will discuss "Women and Work" at the Thursday, May 23, meeting of the Andover-Georgetown branch of the American Association of University Women.

Prof. Biber has studied the conditions of women in the workforce in the United States and Europe and has published two studies, "Women and Work" and "Immigrants as Actors." She teaches women's studies at Boston College.

The 7 p.m. meeting will be held in the Conference Room of the Lawrence Savings Bank, Route 28 at 133, Andover, and is open to the public. Refreshments will be served.

Arrangements are under the direction of Bonnie Pecoraro, 3 Windemere Drive, Louise Hart, 11 Heather Drive, both of Andover, and Kathleen Callagy, 9 Endicott St., Lawrence.

Warriors

Curtis had the five Golden Warrior hits.

Jeff McNeil, Mike Powers and Deery stood out defensively with Deery turning over a sharp double play.

Chelmsford 10 - Andover 0

The Andover-Chelmsford matchup was a nightmare that they hope to soon forget as everything went wrong for them.

The Warriors allowed 14 hits while committing nine errors and were trounced 10-0.

The Andover pitching trio of Gerry Nassif, Mike Klinger and Mark Hashem were all summoned to put out the Lion's fire, but there was no way to put out the hot Chelmsford hitters as they ripped the ball all over the diamond.

Mark Tucker, Chris Sappupo, Mike Klinger, Jeff McNeil, Mark Hashem and Bob Pothier collected Andover's hits.

Nuzzo, sophomore sensation Glenn Allard and Rob DiTroia.

The Lions chipped away with a single run in the top of the second, two more in the fourth (leaving men at second and third), and two in the seventh.

Kevin O'Brien slapped a two-run single for the visitors, Egan had a run-scoring double, and other RBI hits came off the bats of Harry Ball and Jim Egan.

Nuzzo was a perfect 3-for-3 to spark the Golden Warriors' charge, Allard and DiTroia went 2-for-3, Abdo had two hits, and singles were laced by Leo Gravell and Dave Schwedler.

Brian Egan led the Lions' assault with 3-for-3, Dave Markham was 2-for-3 and Ball 2-for-4.

Centerfielder Kevin Rourke and catcher Shane Smith were sharp defensively.

Wilmington, 7-5

The Golden Warriors put together another big first inning against Wildcats' starter Bob Lanzillo, bolting to a 4-0 lead, but AHS could manage only one more run while Wilmington chipped away at Andover junior righthander Kevin Rourke (1-1) before exploding for four runs of its own in the fifth.

Senior righty Don Gorski (2-2) came on in the third and collected the victory in relief, tossing five frames of solid three-hit, seven-strikeout ball.

Junior righthander Larry Aiello had a solid relief stint for the Warriors, permitting just one hit and one run while working the sixth and seventh.

Andover's second consecutive first-inning blitz took place after Lanzillo had retired the first two batters.

Hot-hitting John Nuzzo lashed a single to leftfield, and Shane Smith followed with a crisp RBI double down the leftfield line. Smith then stole third with a head-first slide, Bob Charland walked, and Earl Abdo rescued both runners with a long triple to left-centerfield.

Rob Carpentier's grounder was booted by the WHS second baseman, allowing Abdo to cruise home with the final run of the stanza.

Brian Moon's RBI double put the Cats on the board in the third, scoring sophomore Fred Butters who had walked.

Ed Shelley singled and scored on an error in the fourth to trim the Andover edge to 4-2.

In the pivotal Wilmington fifth there was a triple by Mark Bartnick, singles by Moon and Bill Woods, a bases-loaded walk to Brian Wetzler to force home a run, and a clutch three-run double by Bill O'Donnell.

Bartnick supplied the final Wildcats' tally with a long solo homerun to centerfield in the sixth, and the last Andover marker came in the bottom of the seventh when Nuzzo blasted his second four-bagger of the season to deep leftfield.

Nuzzo finished the contest 2-for-3, while Rob DiTroia and Carpentier contributed basehits.

Bartnick and Moon laced two safeties apiece for the winners.

Stop Work

Kalogianis appeared before the board last week with his attorney, Reginald Marden of Andover. But without the information the board had requested, and without the developer's engineer present, the planners were unable to review the alleged violations and possible solutions, Colyer said.

He described the planning board as "highly irritated" by the developer's failure to comply with their request for detailed information, which was issued along with the stop-work order on March 29.

The board has now requested further information to be submitted by May 7, the planner said, including a schedule for restoring the stream to its original channel, removing trash from the open space, and restoring the disturbed open space to its original contours.

Ultimately, the board wants to see the open space "put back the way it was," the planner said, refilled with loam and sand — the same earth material that was excavated from the pit — and not with construction rubble.

To get the open space cleaned up and the pit filled, the board's next step may be to modify the conditions of Kalogianis's December 1980 subdivision approval and/or June 1980 special permit to cluster. The "bottom-line option" would be to rescind those approvals, Colyer said.

The planners' concerns about Olympic Village reach beyond the alleged open space violations, Colyer noted: "The open space is only half the problem." He said the developer has stripped trees from large portions of the construction site, and that the planners believe the project is moving too quickly.

Andover officials have encountered problems at Olympic Village on three previous occasions, Colyer said: when a large knoll was removed without the board's approval, when several houses were built without permits, and when building materials were used as landfill on several lots.

The area now in question is located at the end of Nicoll Drive, a new cul-de-sac that runs off Woburn Street.

Also last Tuesday night, the board questioned Kalogianis about construction debris that has allegedly been buried, and trees that have allegedly been stripped from the permanent open space at the Tea Lots subdivision off Woburn Street and Ballardvale Road.

The developer told the planners that he no longer owns the Tea Lots and is not responsible for any problems at that development, Colyer said.

Greens

Many supermarkets are currently featuring leafy dark "greens" for sale.

Nutritionally, greens are excellent sources of iron, folacin, vitamin E, magnesium, vitamin B-6 and fiber. Several cancer research groups are recommending an increase of these dark greens in the diet because they are high in beta-carotene, which is converted to vitamin A after it is eaten and vitamin C. Both these nutrients have been linked to a lower cancer incidence.

Beet greens have more vitamin C, iron and calcium than the roots and are more nutritionally valuable.

Collards, the name given to young cabbage plants harvested before they have headed, are exceptional for their vitamin A and C content.

Named Coordinator

Maureen P. Guglielmino, assistant hospital director for marketing and public affairs, recently announced the appointment of Jane Harold of Andover to coordinator of volunteer services at Bon Secours Hospital, Methuen. Harold will be responsible for planning, organizing and directing the activities of more than 300 junior and senior volunteers to support the hospital's various departments.

"We are pleased to have Jane as our new coordinator of volunteer services. In addition to her experience in managing hospital volunteer programs, she brings to this position an obvious sense of warmth and sensitivity to volunteer needs and the variety of duties served by both the junior and senior volunteer," said Guglielmino.

Prior to her appointment, Harold was the assistant to the director of volunteer services at St. John's Hospital in Lowell, where she managed and scheduled more than 200 volunteers on a weekly basis and coordinated orientation and training for senior and junior volunteers. She was also an office manager for Charles Trust Company in Lawrence and an assistant director of the Andover Gallery in Andover.

Day Camp

The Pingree School in South Hamilton will sponsor a day camp program for boys and girls ages six through 14 from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m., five days a week, starting June 24.

Spring Fair

The Rockingham Craftsmen will hold their annual Spring Fair Saturday, May 4, at the Hampton Academy Junior High School, Hampton, N.H. from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Admission is free. Lunch and snacks will be available.

Some of the crafts featured will be quilting, knit, crocheted and sewn articles, ceramics, stained glass, tile painting, kiln-fired glass, leather goods, pottery, cut and pierced lampshades, dolls, stuffed animals, toys, dried flower arrangements and live plants.

Rockingham Craftsmen was founded in 1966 as a non-profit organization, providing a marketing outlet for residents of the county. Before becoming an exhibiting member, each person must submit articles to an examination by the standards committee. Members must contribute time to help run the organization and pay yearly dues.

IT TAKES ONE TO KNOW ONE.

Our Volvo technicians have certain advantages over the mechanic who works someplace else.

First, many are factory-trained to service Volvos. This higher education is available to all Volvo dealer employees.

Second, our technicians are the first to know about new service procedures. And changes in older procedures.

Third, when new tools are designed to service Volvos faster and better, they're put in our technicians' hands first.

Does all this mean the non-Volvo mechanic is working at a slight disadvantage?

No. It means he's working at a huge disadvantage.

Fires

For his part Town Manager Kenneth Mahony isn't as ready as Dalton to commit to a suit, saying he wants more information on the fires. But he too was critical of B&M's performance saying they are "notoriously lax and uncooperative, totally inefficient, self-serving and not community oriented."

Mahony cautioned, though, that he didn't want to file a suit if the cost of the suit would outspend the possible damage award.

The state's Department of Environmental Quality Engineering (DEQE) lab is testing chemicals found at the Mystic site, now being cleared by a state-licensed hazardous waste disposal firm from Revere. Those test results have not yet been received, said Andover Health Director Everett Penny.

Both Mystic and the company across Burt Road, GSF Corp., where a hazardous waste clean up is also under way for at bankrupt company which used to manufacture eurathane foam, are under the control of DEQE, who has engineers monitoring the clean-up. Representatives from the federal Environmental Protection Agency have also toured both Mystic and GSF and have made recommendations to DEQE on the clean-up operations.

Local officials were worried that the Mystic fire would jump Burt Road and spread to GSF, where they knew there were hazardous wastes stored. In fact high winds the evening of the blaze caused it to spread in another direction, across Lowell Junction Road, where a number of acres were burned.

Administrator

assigned full-time to Doherty Junior High.

Also at their April 23 meeting the School Committee appointed a teacher and track coach, approved two leaves of absence and two resignations.

Appointed was Nancy Ghirardini, of Andover, who will work as a permanent substitute at the Early Childhood Center for the rest of this year and through next year. She will be paid based on the annual rate of $15,462 this year and will receive $16,544 next year.

The assistant track coach at Andover High School will be Kenneth Najem, a Lawrence teacher and track coach there who will receive $1,340 for the nine-week job.

Frances McConnell, a special needs teacher in the schools since 1979, and Elia LaMagna, a health aide since 1976, both resigned for personal reasons. McConnell has been on a child-rearing leave of absence since last year.

Leaves of absence were approved for Kathryn Kilroy, a learning disability tutor and teacher, and Lynne Shapiro, a math teacher at Doherty Junior High School. Kilroy's leave is for child-rearing, Shapiro's for personal reasons. Both will not be paid for their year off.

The committee also approved elections to a second year of teaching for three teachers not approved at their last meeting, on April 9. The teachers were not approved when the first vote was taken because enrollment and budget figures were not yet firmed up, according to administrators. Continuing in the school system next year are Mary Ellen Dahlstrandt, a perceptually handicapped teacher at Doherty Junior High; Barbara Nicholson, in the resource room at West Junior High; and West Junior High health teacher Sandra Lunt.

Planners

cated that they were concerned about the site's large wetlands area; the entire River Road frontage consists of wetlands, Chairman Margaret Bradshaw noted.

Colyer said board members also cited as reasons for their disapproval the proposed configuration of the lots, and the fact that drainage from all nearby streets in the Cross Street area runs onto the River Road site.

Also vetoed last Tuesday were preliminary plans for Great Heron Place, a four-lot subdivision proposed for a 6.3-acre site off Orchard Street.

During an April 9 discussion, engineer Paul Ferrante of Dana F. Perkins Associates said that the developer, Picwell Builders of Andover, hoped to subdivide an existing lot into two lots served by a new roadway. (A farmhouse now standing on the site would remain intact on one of those lots.) The developer would also build two new lots with frontage on Orchard Street, for a total of four lots.

The board voted against those plans last week because they were unhappy with "the concept of the proposal," Colyer said. He explained that the planners were not convinced the site could support four houses and a new roadway, and were concerned about drainage from the site.

Last month, Bradshaw said the design proposed for Great Heron Place was "stretching the land" beyond its limits.

Library

In addition to Eastern Contractors, bids were submitted last week by R.W. Granger and Sons, Shrewsbury ($4,176,000); J.P. Construction, Stoneham ($4,276,000); and Pagani Brothers Construction, West Bridgewater ($4,464,535).

Eastern is the second contractor to be awarded the library project. Last October, the town signed a contract with Trust Construction Corp. of Dracut, the low bidder (at $3.96 million) among ten contractors to bid on the project last August.

But the low bid was contested by Anchor Constructin of Lowell, the second-lowest bidder at $3.84 million. After Anchor won a court decision that delayed construction at the library last November, Trust decided not to appeal that ruling, and the town was obliged to seek a second round of bids.

Neither Trust nor Anchor submitted bids for the Memorial Hall project this time around.

Ready to Win at the Losing Game? Call Diet Center

A sprightly sense of humor tips-toes about the Diet Center in North Andover Office Park. Garfield posters hang on the walls ("I'm not overweight," says the Fat Cat in one, "I'm under-tall."); a ceramic pig condemns "pigging out." Ziggy and Erma Bombeck offer words of wisdom.

But don't let the levity fool you. The bulletin board spells out the real, serious business of the Diet Center. Covering it are a flock of before-and-after photos of real people - young, old, male and female - Diet Center's formerly-overweight customers.

Sue Emerson, who manages the N. Andover franchise of the international business, lost 45 pounds with Diet Center five years ago. "Having a weight problem myself," she says, "I can empathize with my customers." She advises would-be dieters to "make the decision for yourself - and make it forever. Not just for a friend's wedding or because summer's coming."

Diet Center works by teaching the dieter about nutrition and the psychological aspects of eating, while helping him or her shed pounds (17 to 25 or more in six weeks, depending upon the weight to be lost). "You see immediate results, and you feel good while dieting," says Emerson. "We give you the tools to control your own eating patterns."

Diet Center staff monitor each client daily during the weight loss phase of the plan. When the dieter reaches goal, he or she is given a stabilization program, then a maintenance diet. If he or she gains two pounds at any time, Diet Center offers a free two-day Controlling Diet to get the dieter back on track.

Diet Center concentrates on the proper use of wholesome food, prepared tastefully for the whole family. The program features classes dealing with all aspects of weight control, such as "Image I", a 10-week video class beginning May 6. For more information, call 685-0508 or visit Diet Center, 451 Andover St. in N. Andover, between the hours of 6:45-11:45 AM and 3:30-5:30 PM M-F; 9-10:30 AM Sat.

It just might be the smartest decision you can make for yourself in the long run.

INFLATION IS INFLATION

During our generation, the inflation rate has bounced between 4% and 20%. That's a lot of bouncing and the bottom figure always seems to be higher than the last bottom. Let's not kid ourselves. Whether it's 4% or 20%, inflation is inflation and unless you do something to protect your hard-earned money from losing its value, you lose.

If you hide $1,000 in your mattress, while you sleep on it for ten years at a 5% inflation rate, the $1,000 will be worth only half of its buying power when you remove it from the mattress. On the other hand, if you purchase your home for $100,000 when you bought your mattress, the value of your home would have appreciated 50% to $150,000 while you incubated your cash wad in the mattress.

Even better news. Your house probably went up MORE than the inflation rate because home values always rise faster than the cost of living. Last year, values rose from 2 to 3.5% more than inflation. You don't have to be a genius to make money owning your own home.

INVESTING IN AMERICA

American real estate looks like a good investment - especially to foreign investors who are pouring millions into U.S. properties these days. Most of those European syndicates are attracted not only by the land, but by our stable political system and the safe dollar.

Truth is, real estate has been a super way to watch your equity build, even if you're not seeking a haven for your francs or pounds. Home prices have been rising, sometimes slowly, sometimes spectacularly, in the past 25 years. Your home is almost certainly worth more than you paid for it.

When you sell, you want to realize all you can. To protect your equity, let a professional handle the transaction. We'll show you how we can maximize your return, despite commission, with a better sales price.

Let us help you get the best possible deal. List your house with —

High School Graduation Will Be More Formal, Controlled

By Susan Rand

Bouncing beach balls will be absent from next month's high school graduation as students, administrators and faculty plan a more formal — and more controlled — ceremony than those of years past.

For months now a committee has been working to make the graduation more of a solemn, meaningful event. This year the seating on Lovely Field will change and every student will be recognized as he or she graduates.

The changes came about as some townspeople criticized last year's graduation, calling student behavior inappropriate. And in January the School Committee met with Andover High student government representatives to talk about what the seniors wanted from their graduation ceremony.

Speakers have not yet been set for the Monday, June 3, ceremony, which will begin at 5 p.m., on Lovely Field. Students are competing for the annual Goldsmith Award in public speaking this morning at the high school. Senior class advisor Robert King told THE TOWNSMAN that this year there may only be one student chosen by a panel of five teachers to address the class. The students on the graduation committee decided they only wanted one speaker, instead of the usual two speakers, because there are so many other persons speaking at the ceremony.

And a guest speaker has not been named, said King. He is awaiting an answer from a speaker he did not want to identify. When the senior class voted to invite a speaker in January a number of famous actors and a sports star topped their list of potential speakers. The first choice of the class of 1985 was comedian Bill Cosby, followed by actors Bill Murray, Mr. T., football star Doug Flutie and author Stephen King.

A new seating plan for graduation will have school faculty and administration seated facing the bleachers on the field, but positioned behind the students. The graduates will sit in two groups, facing each other, as their seats are positioned between the bleachers and the faculty. A podium and small stage will be set up in front of the faculty and each student's name will be called as the diplomas are awarded. King said the graduates will number somewhere between 400 and 420 students.

The announcing of the graduates' names was, according to King, the idea of student Matthew Aumais, the class secretary-treasurer, who told the graduation committee that receiving their diplomas was the most important part of the ceremony for each student. And if there is a lot of talk while students are receiving their diplomas the ceremony will be stopped so the crowd can be quieted, King said. He added that the main source of problems at the graduation are former students who return for the ceremony.

The new seating plan will allow the faculty to keep watch on the students this year. And, said King, the changes will "take the circus aspect out of graduation." But the seniors seem to genuinely want more decorum at their special ceremony, something which King sensed was a "return to dignity."

"This is the most visible thing the high school does in the community," King said. "We have taken a real hard look at the graduation experience."

Members of the graduation committee include parents Thomas Marcella, Nina Lasch and Julie Weil; students Betsy Murphy, who is the Student Council president; Jeffrey Kennedy, class president; Clayton Gonzales, vice-president; and Matthew Aumais, secretary-treasurer. Also Robert Smith, a parent and former School Committee member; teachers Al Perley, Joanne Samra and Robert King, the class advisor; Mike Marcoux, high school drug and alcohol counselor; Stephen Richardson, acting principal; Wilbur Hixon, assistant principal; Leslie G. Loomis, assistant superintendent for secondary education and Kenneth R. Seifert, superintendent.

Their last days at Andover High are numbered as members of the class of 1985 start to plan their senior week activities. Here is a listing of the events scheduled to date:

Yearbooks will be passed out during the lunch hour on Wednesday, May 29.

Senior Outing at the Oak and Spruce Resort, in Lee, is set for Thursday, May 30. Seniors will have all day to enjoy the many sporting and leisure activities at the resort and will dance that evening while senior disc jockey Dave Casanave plays their requests. They will return sometime around 12 midnight.

Graduation Rehearsal is set for Friday, May 31, at 10 a.m., with seniors meeting in front of the Dunn Gymnasium.

Interfaith Baccalaureate Service at St. Robert's Church, Haggetts Pond Road, on Sunday, June 2, at 7 p.m., will feature keynote speaker Gary Cornell, the pastor of the Ballardvale United Methodist Church, who has a daughter graduating in the class of 1985. The nondenominational service, which is not mandatory, is planned on the theme "We've Only Just Begun."
